

PSA One-day course: using IWBs in the language classroom

Session one: Four Approaches

This session provides a hands-on review of IWB basics

Four approaches to using the IWB:

- using regular programmes
- using whiteboard software
- using published material
- creating your own materials

Session two: Practical teaching activities for exploiting the IWB

The session presents a range of practical teaching ideas, grouped as follows:

- grammar
- vocabulary
- language skills (listening / reading / speaking / writing)
- phonology
- games
- learner training

Many of the ideas in this session are from the recent resource book '400 Ideas for using Interactive Whiteboards' in the Macmillan Books for Teachers series.

Session three: Workshop

Part three is a hands-on workshop, where participants:

- prepare short teaching activities and demonstrate these
- share practical teaching ideas

The day concludes with a discussion of best practice.

All participants receive a copy of 400 Ideas for Interactive Whiteboards (Pete Sharma / Barney Barrett / Francis Jones) Macmillan Books for Teachers series (2011)

Training day suitable for language teachers and Directors of Studies with little or no experience of IWBs. Suitable for MFL teachers and CLIL teachers.
